CHAIR LETTER

I am regularly contacted for advice from other sector partnerships inquiring about the keys to our high engagement, accomplishments and longevity. The answer remains the same: industry leadership.

In our first meeting in 2013, industry partners determined what was needed to allow healthcare to thrive in Northern Colorado. Those priorities have stayed remarkably consistent. By eschewing the trappings of well-intentioned, but overly ambitious goals, our partners are able to focus on manageable short-term projects and achieve consistent wins.

This report highlights those priorities and achievements. It is important to note that our committees are made up entirely of volunteers motivated by their belief in the specific project they are supporting. These volunteers include industry partners as well as public partners committed to supporting our industry. This report is a tribute to their efforts. 2018 not only represented our five year anniversary, but also an important turning point in the funding of our efforts. Supported exclusively by public grants, multiple healthcare organizations agreed to fund our efforts and provided significant sponsorship. As we look to the future, this balance of volunteer hours and financial contribution creates an ideal environment for sustained success.

As I reflect on the five years since the Northern Colorado Health Sector Partnership was formed, it is clear that this partnership has filled a void within our communities and industry. With many other groups vying for the attention of our members, we continue to grow and find new ways to make an impact in our communities.

Whether you are a current member or an interested non-member, I invite you to join me as we make the next five years even more impactful!

INTRODUCTION

The Northern Colorado Health Sector Partnership (NOCO) began in 2013 with 30 organizations. We celebrated our 5th year anniversary in 2018 with over 75 organizations and 450 members.

The sector partnership model is industry-driven with alignment across business, economic development, workforce development and education. Not familiar with next gen partnerships? View video here.

The Partnership has identified four key areas for collaboration: education of the public on health care, coordination of a larger behavioral health solution for the two-county area, increasing workforce skills relative to diversity awareness and assuring the appropriateness for PASRR (Preadmission Screening and Resident Review). NOCO has private and public partners working together to address these key areas.

The partnership hosts regular meetings of stakeholders to work to address the areas of collaboration.
The Northern Colorado Health Sector Partnership brings together key stakeholders to promote and improve health within our communities. We will collaborate across disciplines, organizations and communities to seize opportunities, solve problems and celebrate successes in the region.
WORKFORCE COMMITTEE

The goal of the workforce committee is to bring health sector employers together with government agencies, educators and workers to meet growing workforce needs in the health care industry. Committee volunteers include over 15 health industry organizations and over 25 education and public organizations. The committee is growing and new members are always welcome. Get involved by attending monthly committee meetings held on the second Tuesday of each month at The Loveland Chamber 2PM-3:30PM. A tour of a hospital or medical center is included when available. The purpose of this event is to point students in the direction of healthcare career pathways and give students a behind-the-scenes look to help capture their interest before they reach high school.
